Social Learning Groups

Our summer social learning groups are about having fun, fostering peer connections, strengthening communication and play skills, and building confidence. All while feeling like a fun, camp like experience!

During our 4-day groups, children will follow a daily routine consisting of:

- Morning Check In
- Interactive Music and Movement
- Collaborative Sensory Play
- Social Snack and Water Break
- Gym Play and/or Recess Games
- Goodbye Circle

Groups are facilitated by our team of neurodiversity affirming clinicians who are able to provide the just right support to help our children work towards their goals.

Explorers Social Learning Groups™

Fine Motor Promoters

At Puzzle Pieces, we know that consistency is key to developing fine motor skills. Over the summer, children can lose progress made during the school year, making it harder to jump back in when school starts. That's why we created Fine Motor Promoters—a fun, play-based group designed to keep those skills strong without feeling like extra schoolwork!

Designed for children entering kindergarten through 2nd grade, this engaging group helps strengthen handwriting, coordination, and dexterity through hands-on activities and expert guidance. Kids will practice foundational skills in a relaxed setting while parents gain strategies to support fine motor development at home. Perfect for children looking to maintain and build their skills—all while having fun!

Mondays in July from 4-5 pm

Handwriting Heroes

Handwriting Heroes is a fun and engaging summer group designed for children entering 3rd through 5th grade to strengthen their fine motor and handwriting skills in a playful way. At Puzzle Pieces, we understand that confident handwriting starts with strong fine motor foundations, and summer is the perfect time to keep those skills sharp without it feeling like extra schoolwork. Through hands-on, movement-based activities, kids will maintain and build on the progress they made during the school year while having a great time.

This group offers game-based handwriting practice, creative fine motor challenges, and fun coordination exercises to improve control, precision, and writing endurance. With expert guidance, kids will develop their handwriting skills in a relaxed, supportive environment. Parents will also receive simple take-home strategies to continue the progress at home.

Little Literacy Learners

At Puzzle Pieces, we know the early years are crucial for building a strong foundation in literacy. Designed for pre-K and kindergarten-aged children, our Little Literacy Learners group helps kids explore letters, sounds, and early reading skills in a fun, pressure-free environment. With the relaxed pace of summer, it's the perfect time to reinforce literacy through play-based, hands-on activities that build confidence in letter recognition, phonemic awareness, and early word-building.

Through music, movement, and interactive storytelling, children strengthen language skills while socializing with peers in a literacy-rich setting. Parents will also gain strategies to support reading development at home in meaningful ways. This group is ideal for children who are beginning their literacy journey and would benefit from a structured yet playful approach to reading readiness.

Fridays in July from 9:30 - 10:30 am

Ready, Set, READ!

Learning to read is an exciting milestone, but it takes practice, confidence, and the right support! Our Ready, Set, Read! group is designed for early readers entering 1st and 2nd grades who are beginning to sound out words, recognize sight words, and develop fluency. With the relaxed pace of summer, this is the perfect time for children to strengthen their reading skills in a fun, low-pressure environment.

Through interactive reading games, storytelling, music, and hands-on activities, children will build confidence in decoding, comprehension, spelling, and expressive language while engaging with peers. Parents will also gain practical strategies to support literacy at home. This group is ideal for children who are just beginning to read independently and would benefit from extra practice, encouragement, and support to feel prepared for the next school year.

Middle School Bootcamp

Our Middle School Bootcamp is designed for incoming middle schoolers preparing for this big transition. With so many changes happening at once—new schedules, lockers, and social dynamics—this group offers a supportive space to practice key skills and build confidence before the school year begins.

Participants will learn to navigate a class schedule, use a combination lock, locate rooms using a school directory, and develop organization strategies for transitioning between classes. The group will also address social pressures and provide a space to process feelings about this major milestone.

This bootcamp is offered multiple times, and participants are welcome to join one or all sessions. Additional sessions may be added as groups fill to ensure everyone gets the support they need in a small, encouraging environment.

Frequently Asked Questions

What makes our groups different?

Our groups at Puzzle Pieces stand out because of our developmental approach, which tailors activities and interactions to meet each child where they are—fostering growth rather than focusing on isolated behaviors. We prioritize the process over the product, ensuring that there's no single "right" way to participate. This approach allows children to engage in a way that feels natural and comfortable, creating a joyful, low-pressure environment where they can build confidence, social connections, and essential skills at their own pace.

Will my health insurance cover groups?

Unfortunately our groups are not covered by health insurance and are private pay.

Can I use FSA/HSA cards to pay for groups?

Yes! Our groups are considered a medical expense and you can apply funds from health spending accounts and flex spending accounts towards our groups.

Who is leading the group?

At Puzzle Pieces, all of our groups are led by experienced behavioral health, speech and language, or occupational therapists who specialize in working with children. Each therapist holds a graduate degree in their field and brings expertise in child development and therapeutic support. To enhance the experience, our groups are also staffed with trained group assistants, often college or graduate students pursuing careers in therapy. This ensures that every child receives thoughtful, individualized support in a nurturing and engaging environment.

Where are groups located?

Our summer groups are held at our Quincy office, located at 1266 Furnace Brook Parkway in Quincy. All groups will meet in our waiting room in Suite 100b and may be held in our other suites in the building. Our groups will access one or both of our large motor rooms.
